

CELLTREAT® Scientific Products Announces Move to Larger Facility

Media Contact:

Phil Carey - Marketing Manager - 978.425.6155 - philc@celltreat.com

Shirley, MA – June 28, 2011 – CELLTREAT® Scientific Products announced it has moved its headquarters and warehouse facility to a new space within Phoenix Park Business Center in Shirley, MA. The new larger space is designed to accommodate CELLTREAT's continued growth and expansion of product lines.

CELLTREAT's growth has been fueled by the release of a number of innovative products to the life science industry over the past year. Through service, quality, and customer commitment, CELLTREAT continues to gain market share as the value leader in cell and tissue culture products.

"This new office and warehouse more than tripled our existing space. It provides plenty of room for the continued growth of the company, giving us the capacity to house larger inventories, enabling us to successfully meet the rapidly growing demand for our products," said Rich Happell, Operations Manager, CELLTREAT Scientific Products.

ABOUT CELLTREAT:

Founded in 2008, CELLTREAT is a rapidly growing supplier of cell culture and liquid handling products for the life science industry. The company is known for manufacturing high quality products and bringing them to the life science marketplace at significant cost savings versus alternative brands. Driven by input from customers and distribution partners, CELLTREAT quickly translates requests for improvements into real product innovations. CELLTREAT is committed to delivering exceptional customer service and bringing measurable value to the scientific research community. For more information, visit the CELLTREAT website at www.celltreat.com.

###

